

Forbes Hotel TV are chosen as premier hotel TV supplier for the new Hotel Verta, London

October 2010

Forbes Hotel TV are delighted to once again be involved in one of Von Essen Hotels' projects. The luxury hotel brand opened Hotel Verta in London's vertical gateway on the River Thames in September 2010. This opulent and unique hotel is sited at The London Heliport, with a design inspired by the golden age of air travel. We are excited to have been chosen as the television supplier for such a prestigious London landmark.

The Forbes Hotel team, represented by Gill Russell, worked closely during 2009 and 2010 with the Von Essen team to ensure that our recommendation of televisions and in room brackets matched the brand and design of the hotel's luxury guest bedrooms and conference rooms.

For the seventy guest bedrooms we installed the Philips 42HFL5880D. This top of the range, Full HD 1080P, offers full Hotel features with volume limitation, menu locking, Vsecure and Vtrack for HD content security and smart power for energy saving. The Televisions were mounted by our installations teams, using the full pull out and swivel brackets by Alphason.

In the seven conference areas, Samsung 65" Full HD televisions were chosen for their design, and size match to the panel requirements.

Forbes Hotel TV will be providing the Hotel Verta with full on site service back up and, as one would expect of a premier London Hotel, same day service.
